

17th of February 2017

As part of an ongoing, industry-wide initiative to improve the efficiency of the End Point Royalty (EPR) reporting process, the major seed companies, as listed below, have again put in place a service contract with the National Grower Register to distribute and process the 2016-17 Harvest Declarations.

This is being performed through the single, combined Harvest Declaration Form also enclosed with this letter. The aim of the Combined Harvest Declaration Form is to streamline the reporting of EPRs, allowing growers to participate in a quicker, easier and more secure production reporting process. You will notice that this year's Combined Harvest Declaration Form is substantially the same as previous years which has been developed through feedback from growers with the aim of greatly cutting down the time required to complete the Form. Alternatively you may complete your Harvest Declaration obligations online at www.harvestdec.com.au.

These Forms collect information by variety about volumes of grain produced, volumes sold to grain traders or end users (e.g. millers), grain used on farm as stock feed, grain stored on farm or in warehousing for later sale, and grain retained for use as seed in the following year. Where possible the participating seed companies have endeavoured to pre-populate the Form with the varieties you need to report on. Please note, however, you are obliged to report on any variety you have grown that is listed in the table overleaf.

In preparation for the 2017/18 harvest the major seed companies (listed below) would encourage you to review their 2017 variety licence. A copy of the individual seed companies variety licence is available on the variety central website or please contact representatives of the major seed companies.

In addition to the variety licence, the seed companies would like to make you aware that variety Identification testing will be happening again this year with a significant number of grain samples being taken at various receival sites from the 2016/17 harvest. The variety identification audits have been initiated to support the integrity of the variety declaration system and the large majority of the growers that meet their EPR obligations.

For any other enquiries relating to EPR varieties, including royalty rates and seed distribution arrangements you can visit www.varietycentral.com.au, or alternatively contact the individual seed companies directly. Should you require assistance to complete or return the Harvest Declaration Form visit www.harvestdec.com.au or contact the Combined Harvest Declaration Team on 1300 309 310 (between 8am and 5pm Australian eastern standard time).

Yours sincerely
Troy Keenan
Chair EPR Steering Committee
